

ADVANCING WOMEN. STRENGTHENING THE INDUSTRY.

Membership in Women in the Composites Industry (WCI) is more than a professional affiliation, it is a strategic advantage with a human touch. In a fast-moving, innovation-driven industry, access to a trusted network of peers, mentors, and leaders creates a powerful edge. WCI connects individuals from the shop floor to the executive suite, offering real opportunities to exchange ideas, solve challenges, and accelerate career growth where meaningful connections turn into tangible outcomes.

Equally important, membership reflects a commitment to leadership, growth, and the future of the composites industry, while bringing energy and community along the way. From dynamic networking events and mentorship opportunities to lively receptions and candid conversations, WCI creates spaces where relationships are built naturally, not just exchanged. Members do not just stay informed, they stay ahead. And perhaps most importantly, WCI fosters a culture of support and allyship, where both women and men help build a stronger, more connected - and more enjoyable - composites industry.
